

EXECUTIVE VOICE AND PRESENTATION SKILLS COACHING PACKAGE

with Trevor Jenkins

Gain direct, positive coaching on your voice production and presentation style from one of Western Australia's most respected and experienced speaking and media coaches.

Trevor Jenkins will share his wealth of knowledge from 24 years coaching people in the media, business and private sector. This coaching package will build your confidence, effectiveness, and quality of your voice so you are more engaging, more informative and have greater impact from your presentations.

The five, 1 hour coaching sessions can be one-on-one, or you can bring up to three colleagues to be part of this unique, personalised coaching experience.

Given the importance of presentations skills in modern organisations, this Coaching Package is essential for all existing and aspiring senior executives.

Core Content Across the Five Sessions:

- Voice production and delivery
- Delivering your unique voice with confidence and impact
- Direct, practical feedback on your delivery style
- Overcoming the fear of public speaking
- Identifying the key messages you want to present
- Diagnosing the needs of your audience
- Preparing and writing your speech
- Responding to questions

Who should attend?

Existing or aspiring senior executives who are required to present to internal or external audiences. Also, executives who want feedback on their presentation style from someone who is impartial, experienced and who is not afraid to provide candid feedback.
